Science contributions to development of (competitive) cycling

Introduction

An international conference in conjunction with the start of the Tour de France in Florence.

Don't miss this unique opportunity to meet your clients in a pleasant cycling environment.

During the conference experts from the (professional) cycling world and scientists will exchange the latest research and experiences. Alongside the conference an experience square will be set up in which companies and institutes can give demonstrations of their products and technologies.

The participants will consist of researchers, doctors, nutrition experts, sports directors, cycling organisations, trainers and cyclists. The conference aims to get also contributions from other sport disciplines all with the objective of learning and sharing experience.

Besides the pure scientific discussion the conference provides an opportunity to discuss partnerships, business relations and research opportunities.

The Steering Committee will invite keynote speakers to share their views with the audience and experts all over the world are invited to present their work in the conference.
